The Title I program began in 1965 as part of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act ( ESEA ) and is intended to help ensure that all children have the opportunity to obtain a high-quality education and reach proficiency on challenging state standards and assessments. The No Child Left Behind Act of 2001 ( NCLB ) built upon and expanded the assessment and accountability provisions that had been enacted as part of the ESEAs previous reauthorizing legislation, the Improving Americas Schools Act ( IASA ), while also creating new provisions related to parental choice and teacher quality. These and other changes were intended to increase the quality and effectiveness not only of the Title I program, but also of the entire elementary and secondary education system in raising the achievement of all students, particularly those with the lowest achievement levels. As part of...
